Editorial: Human Trafficking

The driver announced the good news - they were in Mumbai. Asha became excited. What will the family be like? What about their big house? When Asha and Kala climbed down from the bus there was no one to meet them. Asha was confused. She looked around. Kala grabbed her hand and nearly jerked her off her feet. "Come, child!" They walked quickly through the busy station, past the beggars who swarmed the sidewalk outside, and to the taxi stand. Asha had never been in a car. Kala spoke crisply to the driver, "Falkland Road." This must be a very special place, she thought for the driver instantly nodded his head in recognition. It was night when the taxi wound its way through Mumbai's crowded streets, but unlike Nepal, it wasn't dark. Everywhere she looked, Asha saw lights, lots of lights with strange markings. Asha did not know the meaning of the strange markings. She had never been to school. After an hour's drive, the taxi turned onto what seemed to be the busiest street of all. The taxi stopped. Kala pulled her arm again. "This is where we get out," the woman said crossly. This was a strange place. "Where's the pretty house?" Asha asked shyly. "Quiet!" Kala barked. "This is your new home." Women and girls lounged in the doorway. Their faces were painted in ways Asha had never seen. Asha stopped and stared. Kala roughly pulled the little girl through the door. They walked down a series of long, poorly lit corridors. Asha could feel the wet garbage under her bare feet, oozing between her toes. There was heaviness in the air. This did not seem like a happy place.

Asha is only one of the 2.2 million children that are sold into the sex trade industry every year. In India, children cost less than cattle, and yet last year alone, the sex trade industry profited $32 billion dollars. That is more than Starbucks, Google and Nike combined. These children live under constant threat and violence in which they have no control over. Experts say that these girls are told that they are being offered a modeling job or a job serving tables, but little do they know they are just a product on the Black Market.

The Universal Declaration of Human Rights clearly states in Article 4 "No one shall be held in slavery or servitude; slavery and the slave trade shall be prohibited in all their forms." Through these statistics and examples, it is evident that this right is being violated every single day, in large numbers as well. A specific NGO that is working to save the victims of human trafficking and raise awareness to the public about the issue is the Not For Sale campaign. Not For Sale is a Campaign of students, artists, entrepreneurs, people of faith, athletes, law enforcement officers, politicians, social workers, skilled professionals, and all justice seekers united to fight the global slave trade and end human trafficking. The Campaign aims to recruit, educate, and mobilize an international grassroots social movement that effectively combats human trafficking and slavery through "Smart Activism". It deploys innovative solutions for every individual to re-abolish slavery in their own backyards and across the globe. Not For Sale believes that everyone has a skill to contribute than can free an individual living in bondage, and together we can stop human trafficking and end slavery in our lifetime.

As the ethi ethw ethu ethreder deneneit,A The "s.v." stands for the Latin sub verbo, or "under the word." Even if the commercial site has the person's name wrong, your readers need to search for the name as the commercial site has it.) You may also need to supply birth and/or death dates to distinguish among people with the same name. Finally, provide the name of the commercial site you used. Use this model for information that you know from first-hand experience, like your mother's birthday. Supply your whole name where it says "author" above.A Grave markers A A A 9, to the Hanover College Style Sheet for Chicago Manual Footnotes This appendix to the History Department's guide to Chicago Manual Footnotes provides further examples for citing sources genealogists use. For more on what footnotes are and how they work, see below. Census records 08/06/2020 - Appendices. It is best to place tables and other supporting data sets or examples at the end of a paper. Number your examples Appendix 1, Appendix 2, and so on. Insert a footnote as you refer to the material and direct the reader to the proper entry, as in a footnote that reads See Appendix 1, 08/02/2020. How to write an appendix in Chicago style. In this type of footnoting, appendix get the end of the manuscript as well. In this style, a footnote is added in the main text every time an appendix is added. The heading of appendix can be made with numbers (Appendix 1, Appendix 2) or with letters (Appendix A, Appendix B). In-text citation (Chicago Manual of Style, 15th ed., ..., 17/09/2019 - After the appendix heading, write the title (centred). Times New Roman should be the font style with 12 being the font size. Page numbers should be placed at the top right. Remember, the page number should not be placed on the front cover. The last page should include references. These are some of the points that should keep in mind while writing an appendix. 09/11/2021 - The font used in appendix Chicago style is Times New Roman. The font size is 12 points. Page numbers are labelled at "Page 1,2,3". Page numbers must be displayed on the top right of each page. Here is a simple guide on how to make an appendix in Chicago style. Every appendix is to follow the order of the stated information on the paper. Include the appendix after the reference list. Include page numbers for each appendix. The Chicago Manual of Style recommends the use of either the notes and bibliography format or the author-date system for documentation. The front cover will not have any page number. Appendices should start with the heading Appendix followed by ABC. Chicago style calls for page numbers at the top of each page on the right side.
